

We recently were made aware of a highly insensitive Facebook post, written by an employee from an outside agency who incorrectly associated her employment with Altercare.

Effective immediately, this individual will not be permitted to work in any Altercare facility going forward.

The offensive post in no way reflects the values of Altercare or our approach to providing compassionate care to those we are privileged to serve. Over 2,000 of our employees have been on the front lines of battling the COVID-19 pandemic for months and our dedicated healthcare providers do not deserve to be connected to such inflammatory language.

This is a sensitive, fragile time in our nation's history. And it is a time when we need to come together, not allow uncaring and unkind social media posts to drive us further apart.

Our focus is, and always will be, on providing the best care possible to every person who needs us regardless of race, creed or origin.
